REMARKS

[REDACTED]

1. The northeastern section of the Warsaw-Okecie (R 53/P 98) airfield was reserved for commercial aviation while the other sections were used by military aircraft. The Institut Techniczny Lotniczy (Air Force Technical Institute) was located in the western section of the field. (1)
2. A training center of the Polish Air Force was located in the Bernerovo (R 53/P 99) area. Observers, radio operators, aircraft mechanics, and aerial gunners were being trained there. The course for aerial gunners lasted one year, that of the other groups two years. (2)
3. Test flights with new types of aircraft were being made at the Goclaw (R 53/L 36) airfield. According to other students who worked in the Air Force Technical Institute, new types of sport and commercial planes were being tested there. (3)
4. The Mokotow (R 53/L 09) airfield was used for training purposes. (4)
5. The Commander of the Polish Air Force has his headquarters in a building at the intersection of Nawalska Street and Al Zwirki i Wigury street. (5)
6. Ten to 15 temporary buildings in Bielany (R 53/P 99), on the west side of Marymoncka Street, were occupied by an air force unit. (6)

[REDACTED] Comments.

- (1) This statement is correct.
- (2) This information agrees with a previous report. The information indicates that the status of the field has not changed since March 1949. [REDACTED]
- (3) This information is received for the first time. Since no military unit is stationed at this field, which is used only by aviation sports associations, the information appears credible.
